Proceedings and Reports
For Year Ending September 30, 1929

"I purposely leave to the corporation the largest liberty of making such changes in the methods of applying the income of the Fund as shall seem from time to time best adapted to accomplish the general object herein defined. But being warned by the history of such endowments that they sometimes tend to discourage rather than promote effort and self-reliance on the part of beneficiaries; or to inure to the advancement of learning instead of the dissemination of it; or to become a convenience to the rich instead of a help to those who need help; I solemnly charge my Trustees to use their best wisdom in preventing any such defeat of the spirit of this trust; so that my gift may continue to future generations to be a blessing to the poor.

"If at any time after the lapse of thirty-three years from the date of this foundation it shall appear to the judgment of three-fourths of the members of this corporation that, by reason of a change in social conditions, or by reason of adequate and equitable public provision for education, or by any other sufficient reason, there is no further serious need of this Fund in the form in which it is at first instituted, I authorize the corporation to apply the capital of the Fund to the establishment of foundations subsidiary to then already existing institutions of higher education, in such wise as to make the educational advantages of such institutions more freely accessible to poor students of the colored race."

Minutes

Seventy-Ninth Meeting, April 23, 1929

The 79th meeting of the Trustees of the John F. Slater Fund was held in the office of the General Education Board, New York City, at 1:15 p. m. on Tuesday, April 23, 1929.

Present: Messrs. Brown, Kelsey, Scribner, Dillard, Kearny, Kirkland, Arnett, Bowie and Glenn.

In the absence of Dr. Shaw, Mr. Kelsey presided.

The minutes of the meeting held on April 24, 1928, having been spread in full on the report of the Slater Fund for the year ending September 30, 1928, were approved without being read.

Dr. Dillard informed the Board that he had received letters from Messrs. Eggleston and Venable, regretting that they would be unable to be present.

Mr. Charles S. Brown, Chairman of the Finance Committee, presented his report, as well as that of the Treasurer, and after a general discussion the reports were adopted and ordered placed on file.

The recommendations of the Education Committee were then presented and the following resolution, covering appropriations for 1929-1930, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That for field work, session 1929-1930, Seventy Thousand Dollars ($70,000) be appropriated from the regular income of the John F. Slater Fund and Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000) from the income of the Peabody Donation, if the income warrants, with the understanding that at least Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000) be expended in support of the County Training Schools and that any allocation of the balance of Forty-Eight Thousand Dollars ($48,000) be made with the approval of the Executive Committee.

Dr. Dillard then informed the Board in detail of the work that he and his assistants were doing and of the general educational conditions in the South and Southwest. He spoke of the growing improvement of the colleges, the large increase in the number of actual college students, and the need of the colleges for sufficient revenue to employ well equipped instructors. The contributions of the Slater Fund in this direction, while not large at any one place, have been highly approved as helpful in the way of holding or securing a competent professor in certain departments. In addition the President presented a statement showing the amounts appropriated to various County Training Schools and spoke of the growing importance of these schools as educational centers in the county and as feeders to the colleges.

Mr. Arnett explained some of the activities of the General Education Board in its cooperation with State authorities and with the Slater and Jeanes Funds.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the committee, appointed at the meeting of this Board held April 26, 1927, to consider the plans and means of raising the necessary fund for a suitable memorial to Mr. John F. Slater, be continued in its present form and that a report be submitted to this Board at its next meeting.

By the unanimous vote of all present, Article VIII of the By-Laws of the John F. Slater Fund was amended to read as follows, in accordance with the notice given by Dr. Glenn at a meeting of this Board held on April 24, 1928:

There shall be appointed by the Chairman at each annual meeting the following Committees:

- (1) An Executive Committee consisting of not less than five members.
- (2) An Education Committee consisting of not less than five members.
- (3) A Finance Committee consisting of not less than three members.

A letter from Dr. Francis P. Venable was then read, offering his resignation as a member of this Board, owing to the fact that he is unable to be present at the meetings. Dr. Venable's resignation was accepted with regret.

The election of a successor to Dr. Venable was then considered and on motion duly seconded and by the affirmative vote of all present, Professor Arthur D. Wright, of Dartmouth College, formerly supervisor of Negro Rural Schools in Virginia, was duly elected a Trustee of the John F. Slater Fund.

This being the annual meeting, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Albert Shaw, Chairman; J. H. Dillard, President; Miss G. C. Mann, Secretary; Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company, Treasurer.

The Chairman then appointed the following Standing Committees:

Executive: John M. Glenn, Chairman; Albert Shaw, W. Russell Bowie, Warren Kearny, Trevor Arnett.

Education: J. H. Dillard, Chairman; James H. Kirkland, Clarence H. Kelsey, Joseph D. Eggleston, Arthur D. Wright.

Finance: Charles S. Brown, Chairman; Charles Scribner, Clarence H. Kelsey.

Dr. Kirkland then offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Chairman of this Board and the members of the Executive Committee be authorized and requested to bear in mind that it is the wish of the Board that Dr. Dillard continue his present activities as long as he wishes and that in the event of his retirement and the appointment of his successor, arrangements are to be made for the continuance of Dr. Dillard's valuable services as an advisor to the Board.

On motion duly seconded, the meeting adjourned.

Colleges

In 1928-29 the Slater Fund paid, or assisted in paying, the salary of a professor in the English or Science department of thirty colleges. The professors to whose salaries the contributions have been made are graduates of, or have attended, Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Columbia, Chicago, Northwestern, California, Illinois, Howard, or some other well-known institution.

The following comparison shows the increased attendance of college students from 1922 to 1929 in twelve colleges situated in the Southern States. It does not include Hampton, Tuskegee, the State Colleges, and institutions like Howard, Lincoln, Morgan and Wilberforce, situated north of the Potomac. It includes of the other colleges those that have two hundred or more students in full college courses.

County Training Schools

It seems appropriate, as a matter of record, to reprint in this report the following story of County Training Schools. It was written at the request of the editor of the magazine "Opportunity":

This story might easily be full of statistics, but I shall try not to be profuse in figures. I shall give only a few outstanding figures, and I may tell at once the two sets that are most striking. In the session 1911-12, when the so-called County Training Schools began, there were four, and they received from public tax funds $3,344. In 1928-29 there were 370, and they received from public tax funds $1,886,852. The total receipts for these schools in 1928-29 amounted to $2,201,407.

The way they began is interesting. In the Spring of 1911 two unusual letters came to the Slater Fund. I say unusual, because this Fund had been dealing with private and denominational institutions, and the two letters came from county superintendents of public education. One came from Virginia, the other from Louisiana. They said practically the same thing. Would the Slater Fund help in building up a central school in the county? It was hard to get teachers for the one-room rural school, and a local school, even if it went only to the eighth, ninth or tenth grade, was needed to meet the demand. I could understand this. Two years before the receipt of these letters I had made a personal survey of colored schools in a small county in Mississippi. Of the twenty-seven public school teachers in the county there were only three who had themselves studied above the fifth grade. Let me say here that nowhere would such an absurd condition now be found, but this was eighteen years ago. The proposition of the two superintendents might seem merely a makeshift, but it sounded good enough to try, so the reply was that the Slater Fund would be glad to cooperate. In the following session a beginning was made in four counties.

In the next year there were still four. In March, 1913, a letter was written to the State Superintendents of the South, explaining the plan and quoting from a report I had made to the Trustees of the Slater Fund. This letter called out most encouraging replies. I give a few extracts, because they are an important part of the story. Hon. Henry J. Willingham, of Alabama, said: "I shall approve and foster at every opportunity the plan outlined in your favor of the 27th." He went on to say that he would bring the matter to the attention of county boards. "The county boards," he wrote, "are the men who hold the strategic point in bringing about such an arrangement." Hon. W. M. Sheats, of Florida, wrote: "Yours of March 27th received. I am willing to cooperate with you to the fullest extent. . . . Your policy and plan meet with my highest approval." Hon. J. Y. Joyner, of North Carolina, wrote: "I approve most heartily your suggestion of a county industrial training school for Negro teachers. . . . I will take the matter up with Mr. Newbold as soon as he takes charge of the work of supervising the Negro rural schools of the state, and cooperate with him in endeavoring to interest the county superintendents and county boards of education in this proposition." Hon. J. W. Brister, of Tennessee, wrote: "I should be glad to see this central school idea worked out to which you refer where we could give better educational opportunities to Negro students than can now be had in the ordinary small schools, and if you could make a suggestion to the county superintendents I should be glad to follow up that letter and encourage them to take advance steps where they are possible." In the session 1913-14, the number doubled. In 1914-15 it doubled again, becoming seventeen. Since then it has gradually and steadily increased.

The extract from Superintendent Brister's letter suggests another consideration which caused a favorable reply to the two county superintendents. Here seemed a clear lead for the promotion of public high schools for colored children. The time seemed at hand, or soon coming, when the need would be apparent. If the colleges were to prosper there must be a supply of secondary schools, and a proper supply could come only through the means of public funds. The establishment of schools such as the county superintendents advocated seemed therefore not only to meet their immediate demands but to point further. And so it was. In fifteen years, that is, by 1926, when there were 306 such schools, there were eighty-two which had reached a full four year high school course. They are all on the way.

An investigation just completed shows that in a fairly complete list of private and denominational schools the number of high school pupils in such schools has declined, within the past four years, from about 35,000 to about 19,000. This, of course, does not signify that there are fewer high school pupils. It simply means an increase of the number attending public high schools. In these four years twenty-seven private or denominational schools have closed, some to become County Training Schools, others because of nearness to such schools. This is inevitable, but it by no means implies the extinction of private and denominational high schools. There are some which ought to die, such as are lacking in genuineness and in any reasonable expectation of proper support. But there will always be plenty of room and need for high-class high schools conducted privately or by the various religious denominations, and such deserve far more assistance than they are at present receiving.

In the beginning, of course, none of the Training Schools were High Schools, and we did not wish to call them such. Even at that time there was some criticism of false names. A university was cited which had never gone above the third high school year, and there were many colleges which did little more than the beginnings of high school work. So the name of County Training School was hit upon. The suggestion came from Dr. J. D. Eggleston, former State Superintendent in Virginia, later President of Hampden-Sidney College, and also a member of the Slater Board. The idea was that when the schools should become high schools they might be so called. Some of them have thus graduated out of the Training School list, and changed the name, but there are others which, though they are entitled to the change of title, still keep the name of Training School.

It sometimes happened that a County Training School served not only its own county but some adjoining county. A Supervising Teacher, going about among the rural schools, would find bright pupils who ought to have a chance of passing beyond the five or six grades provided. She would tell about the Training School and perhaps bring about the chance of going. If it were too far away, perhaps there might be some relative living near it, with whom the child could board. Some of the schools soon began to have modest dormitories. By 1925, when there were 233 schools, there were fifty-seven which had dormitories of some kind. In that year there were 6,198 boarders, of whom 1,657 were in dormitories, the others in near-by homes. In more recent years the tendency has been toward transportation.

Cooperation has become a great word in our day. In really effective cooperation in the field of education the County Training Schools furnish the most striking example that I know of. Let me give one instance of one of the schools which I recently visited. This school had received help from seven sources: the State, the county, the contributions of the people themselves, the Slater Fund, the General Education Board, the Rosenwald Fund and the Federal Fund, known as Smith-Hughes. This last was supplying the salary of a teacher in agriculture and shop work. The General Education Board had supplied most of the money for a shop building. The Rosenwald Fund gave a part of the money for a new main building. The Slater Fund was helping in the payment of salaries. Besides all these agencies the Carnegie Corporation made through the Slater Board liberal contributions to County Training Schools in the critical middle period of their development.

After all, these schools being public schools, their main development has come from public school funds. This is the great fact, and it is a fact which, even in thinking of race relations, counts for more than many orations as evidence of growth in conviction of justice and spirit of goodwill.

I. The officers of the Board shall be a Chairman and a President, chosen from the members, and a Treasurer and a Secretary, who may or may not be members of the Board. These officers shall be elected by ballot at each annual meeting and shall hold office, unless removed, until their successors have been chosen, and vacancies, when they occur, shall be filled by ballot.

II. The annual meeting of the Board shall be held on the fourth Tuesday in April, at such time and place as shall be designated by the Board or the President. Special meetings may be called by the President or the Executive Committee at such times and places as in their judgment may be necessary, and shall be called on the written requisition of three members.

III. Five members of the Board shall be a quorum for the transaction of business.

IV. The Chairman shall preside at all meetings of the Board and, unless it is otherwise ordered, shall appoint all standing or special committees. In the absence of the Chairman, the members assembled at any meeting, may elect a chairman pro tempore.

V. The President shall direct the educational activities of the Board, shall call all meetings of the Board, as hereinbefore provided, and shall perform such other duties as are incumbent upon him.

VI. The Secretary shall keep a record of all the meetings of the Board and shall publish its proceedings annually for general distribution.

VII. The Treasurer shall have custody of all money and assets of the Corporation, shall collect all funds, revenues, etc., due the same, shall deposit, as soon as received, all money, checks, funds, etc., in the name of the Corporation, in a bank or banks designated by the Finance Committee, except that if the Treasurer be a trust company it shall itself care for such funds, shall pay warrants only when countersigned by the President, shall retain vouchers for all disbursements, shall keep a detailed account of all the receipts, revenues, and expenditures of the Corporation, and furnish annually, or whenever required, a statement of the same, shall hold the books, accounts, vouchers, etc., at all times subject to the inspection of the members of the Board, and shall receive such compensation as may be determined by the Board.

VIII. There shall be appointed by the Chairman at each annual meeting the following Committees:

- (1) An Executive Committee consisting of not less than five members,
- (2) An Education Committee consisting of not less than five members,
- (3) A Finance Committee consisting of not less than three members.

IX. The Executive Committee shall have all the powers of the Board between the meetings of the Trustees, except that no real estate shall be sold and no change of general policy shall be initiated by it. Three members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

X. The Education Committee shall be charged with the duty of studying education in the South, and of reporting to the Board at the annual meeting with regard to the special educational work of the Fund, and also in regard to any other educational matters to which their attention may be directed.

XI. Subject at all times to the instructions and approval of the Board of Trustees, the Finance Committee shall have the authority to invest and reinvest the funds of the corporation and to sell and dispose of the securities and investments of the corporation at their discretion. The Finance Committee shall have the authority to make contracts for the sale of any real estate now or hereafter belonging to the corporation, such contracts to be signed by any two members of the Finance Committee.

All securities in the custody of the Treasurer, belonging to the corporation, shall be held for "The Trustees of the John F. Slater Fund" and any shares of stock and bonds, if registered, shall be held in the name of "The Trustees of the John F. Slater Fund." Unregistered or coupon bonds may, however, be held by the Treasurer for the corporation. Any securities belonging to the corporation may be surrendered and sold by the Treasurer when authorized by a resolution of the Finance Committee certified by the Secretary.

XII. In the case of the absence or disability of the Treasurer, the Finance Committee shall have power to fill the vacancy temporarily.

XIII. Vacancies in the Board shall be filled by ballot, at any regular or special meeting duly called.

XIV. These By-Laws may be altered or amended at any annual or special meeting, by the vote of the majority of all the members of the Board, provided notice of the amendment has been given five days in advance of said meeting.
